Pharmacologists use the term "addiction" to refer to physiological dependence. Pharmacologists continue to speak of addiction from a physiologic standpoint (some call this a physical dependence).